WHAT ARE ESSENTIAL OILS?

Essential oils have been used for thousands of years for their health, cosmetic, and emotionally uplifting properties. Young Living has always been at the forefront of bringing this ancient tradition to modern users, introducing millions to a total mind/body wellness they may never have dreamed possible. Primarily extracted through careful steam distillation, but also through cold pressing, the purest essential oils are far more powerful than dry herbs, delivering quick and effective results.

Essential Oils are the aromatic, volatile liquid that circulate through tissues and pass through cell walls, carrying nutrients into the cells and carrying waste products out. They keep the plant alive. They work similarly within our own bodies when we use them. We may not need them to live, as the plant does, but the essential oils can bring healing and nutrition to our bodies and carry the waste products and toxins out.

Essential Oils are made up of hundreds of chemical constituents. This is what gives them the ability to treat many different things at once. They have the unique ability to penetrate cell membranes and diffuse throughout our blood and tissues.

WHY YOUNG LIVING?

Almost ALL essential oils say “100% pure” on the front of the label. But just like on the fruit juice you buy at the supermarket, this means very little. Sure, the juice is pure, but there is 60% water in that bottle along with 100% pure juice, right?

It is a similar concept with many oils. The companies who bottle them will often add fillers or synthetics to their oils in order to save money.

Young Living has a Seed to Seal guarantee. Young Living’s authentic essential oils capture the pure energy of the plant. This energy has proven therapeutic properties that can help move you to a life of wellness, purpose, and abundance.

TOPICAL

Real quick let's go over a bit of "Essential Oil-ese". A single oil is just that. One singular oil in a bottle. A "blend" is a mixture of different oils that are put together for a common purpose. "Neat" means that you apply the oil topically, without dilution. And "dilution" is adding some of a "carrier oil" with the essential oil before applying or ingesting it. A "carrier oil" is a nonessential oil, such as almond oil, grapeseed oil, olive oil, or coconut oil. Some oils are considered "Hot" meaning that they might sting a little on contact - like peppermint. Ever popped a spicy peppermint candy into your mouth or added too much cinnamon to a recipe? That's what we mean by "Hot". Those oils should be diluted with a carrier oil. Other oils like lavender and frankincense can be used "Neat", which means you can pour some drops from the bottle and apply those drops directly to your skin.

Apply your oils topically to the desired area. You can also apply topically to "vitaflex points". Always dilute "hot" oils, like peppermint or Thieves. (The bottles will have details on how much to dilute) And you will always want to dilute more on small children and babies (They do not need a full adult dosage, so we dilute more since we can't divide a drop into smaller amounts.) You can also dilute to spread the oil onto a larger area.

INHALATION

The sense of smell is one of the most powerful senses. Close your eyes and think of your grandmother's house. You can instantly smell it can't you? Inhalation is a great way to deliver the oils. Young Living has several amazing diffuser options. When you use the diffuser, you are benefiting everyone in the room, not just rubbing oil on one person. And when you diffuse Thieves or other immune supporting oils, you are benefiting everyone in the room. Calming oils can calm your overactive children and destress mom and dad at the same time. Everyone benefits! Also, as far fetched as it may sound, you can get benefits simply from sniffing the bottle of many of the oils. Putting the oil on the palms of your hands and cupping them over your nose and mouth to breathe them in is also very effective.

INGESTION

Young Living essential oils are so pure you can put a drop in your glass of water for a health and energy boost. You can also use them to flavor your baking with a powerful health boosting punch!

Please keep in mind that not all Young Living essential oils are safe for ingestion, just as not all plants are meant to be ingested. Always refer to the label or your reference guide to see if an oil is safe for ingestion. When ingesting oils, start with one drop of an oil and work up to more so your body can get used to it. Also, if you choose to take your oil in a capsule, use a carrier oil to fill the capsule after putting the essential oils in. If you add essential oils to water, use a GLASS container. Especially citrus oils, which leach onto toxins and carry the toxins OUT. So, the same oil that will take the toxins from your body and transport them out, will also take the toxins from PLASTIC and transport them out, or rather right into your body. So, always use glass!

* ONLY INGEST YOUNG LIVING OILS! Most others ARE NOT SAFE! Please don't risk the health of yourself or your family by not heeding this warning. ****

LAVENDER

Lavender is one of history's most celebrated and versatile essential oils. It is steam distilled from Lavandula angustifolia, a perennial, bushy shrub with a flowery top. Historically, Greeks used lavender as a perfume. The Romans used it in their baths for washing, for its cleansing qualities, and to deter insects. The Egyptians used lavender as an ingredient in incense and perfume. Queen Elizabeth I used it in her tea to soothe tension. The many plant constituents in lavender essential oil contribute to a vast range of usage. Today, we use lavender to cleanse, support normal sleep, ease occasional depressed moods, soothe sun-exposed skin, and reduce stress. Lavender oil is one of the safest essential oils and can be applied neat to the skin. The benefits of lavender essential oil are limitless, and modern research will continue to yield new and exciting uses for this amazing plant.

We love Lavender! We often refer to lavender as the 'swiss army knife' of oils because it has so many amazing uses. We love lavender in the spring! When we experience minor skin irritations, I put lavender on them. When someone's skin needs soothing from sun exposure, I put lavender on it. When my family is in need of calming or sleep support, I diffuse lavender.

PEPPERMINT

Peppermint has an invigorating and fresh mint aroma. This amazing and versatile essential oil has been widely studied for its potential health benefits and for its ability to enhance mental acuity.

Peppermint is one of the oldest and most highly regarded herbs for soothing digestion.

Peppermint is another must have oil in the house! It's perfect for soothing the tummy. Inhaling from the bottle helps during bouts with sour tummies. We also use peppermint for relief from tension and discomfort of the head and neck.

{POST 10}

LEMON

Lemon essential oil is cold pressed from the rind of Citrus limon, a 20-foot tree with highly scented blossoms and lemon fruits. Lemon essential oil promotes clarity of thought and purpose and has a purifying citrus scent that is invigorating, enhancing, and warming and is known as one of the most fragrant essential oils. Lemon contains d-limonene, an antioxidant that has been linked to healthy immune system function. Studies show that inhaling lemon can help with the occasional blues. Lemon is also an important ingredient in natural cosmetics that may be useful for cleansing the skin and reducing the appearance of wrinkles.

I LOVE lemon. It's my favorite to use to clean up the kitchen. It removes the sticky, waxy coating they apply to produce. It will clean your counter quickly and efficiently. It's rejuvenating when dropped in a glass of water. And it's another oil we love in the springtime. We also love to use lemon when we need to support our immune systems during the winter.

{POST 11}

COPAIBA

Deep in the heart of the Brazilian rain forest, the copaiba tree is harvested by “tapping” the heartwood similar to how rubber and maple are tapped. The resin is collected and then steam distilled, a process that delicately extracts the pure essential oil. Copaiba is a powerful essential oil that has traditionally been used to aid digestion and support the body's natural response to injury or irritation. Copaiba helps relax muscles and supports joint function. It is often used to amplify the effects of other essential oils. Panaway and Copaiba are excellent used together to alleviate minor aches and pains.

THIEVES

Young Living's amazing Thieves essential oil blend was inspired by the legend of four fifteenth-century thieves in France who formulated an aromatic blend composed of cloves, rosemary, and other botanicals to keep them from getting ill while robbing graves. When captured, they were offered a lesser sentence in exchange for their secret recipe. Young Living's one-of-a-kind blend is formulated with pure clove, cinnamon bark, rosemary, lemon, and eucalyptus (E. radiata) essential oils. Thieves is a great option for those looking for an aromatic oil blend to support healthy immune function.

Young Living also has an entire line of Thieves household supplies like toothpaste, house cleaner, hand soap, floss, and throat lozenges. We love love love Thieves!

It smells very good! I love diffusing during the holidays and when company is coming over. We love Thieves tea (tea, honey to sweeten, one drop of lemon and one drop of thieves) on cold winter days. The toothpaste and mouthwash based on Thieves tastes great and is very effective! Everyone who tries it loves it, even my 7 yr old son is a huge fan!

FRANKINCENSE

Frankincense is one of the oldest essential oils. Considered the "holy anointing oil" in the Middle East, frankincense has been used in religious ceremonies for thousands of years. It was well known during the time of Christ and was one of the gifts given to Christ at his birth. Anciently, the Chinese used frankincense to support overall health. Today, frankincense is still used worldwide for both its ceremonial and dietary use.

Frankincense calms and soothes the body and mind. It contains comforting properties helpful for mental balance, and it has a stimulating and elevating aroma. It increases spiritual awareness and enhances meditation. Frankincense essential oil has a visual tightening effect on the skin and may benefit older, more mature skin.
